The heart-warming story of Schmoozer and Tara

Back in December 2019, Paws and Recover had the troublesome task of fostering 2 elderly cats 2 days before Christmas.

Schmoozer and Tara's elderly owner had died and the poor cats were in a bad way, having been without food or water for approximately a week (we think).

The cats were a lifeline for their owner. She loved them with all her heart. She did not have any close family or friends who could take the cats.

If it wasn't for Paws And Recover, they likely would have been euthanised at that point.

Luckily a very special family stepped in to help.

Some great social media detective work put foster carers in touch with the team at Vet HQ, who knew the cats and their late owner well and soon the cats were doing much better.

They ended up fostering on a permanent basis and had the absolute pleasure of Schmoozer's company until January 2021 (when he ultimately succumbed to multiple health problems at the age of 18 1/2). Tara (who was 20 1/2) died last week due to kidney failure.

These cats were so lucky to spend the last couple of years of their natural lives in retirement with a family who gave them all the love and medical attention they needed.

We know Frances, their original mum, would have been so happy to see them thriving.

Paws and Recover is such a wonderful charity. Check it out! https://www.pawsandrecover.com/
